The summer 2026 mohair selling season started in an excellent way. Good rains over most of the production area, and the average market indicator increased by 5.66% against the exchange rate. This, while the Rand strengthened by nearly 6% against the USA$. In real terms, this meant that the average price increased by 10%! The HF marketing team forecasted in 2025 that the better demand for mohair will flow into 2026. It is again the young goat section of the clip that saw the best competition with an increase of 9.9%. This starts to make up for the poor demand for this specific category for more than 2 years. Demand came from Europe as well as the East. All the buyers are competing. The best moment of the day was when the kid bale of Boet Greeff (EE Greeff Boerdery), Somerset East, went for the top price of the day at R765.00/kg! This is a good style, 25.2-micron, B-length summer kid bale with a clean yield of 86.2%. The next sale will have an offering twice the size of this sale, but also more and better kids on offer.
